

Home

Snow is everywhere
The wind slices my face
My spine trembles
Winter is Death
With its eventual rebirth
Hell on earth
I've moved so often
It's always the same
Friends and lovers come and go
Like leaves in the trees as seasons flow
I wish I had some place to really call home